BUTCHER CRIMEWATCH!

In response to your "Crime-watch Butcher Special" — Oink 14 — I saw a man lurking around the slaughterhouse yesterday. He looked like Jimmy The Cleaver. Smith, the notorious butcher. He looked like this — very suspicious, eh?

— Martin Cole, Haverhill.

This notorious fiend was also spotted by Justin Perry in Gloucester. Keep your eyes peeled, pig-pals — and your tails covered! — Uncle Pig.

hello, readers....frank sidebottom here....

you know that saying....
"you are what you eat"?
rubbish!...if that were true
i would be a great big plate
of fish fingers with tomato ketchup all over me....and as you can see from this photo of me in my dressing gown...i am not. but food is very, very, very important in keeping fit....so follow this diet-in-a-day plan.

★ wake up and shout for your mum to bring you a very very big cup of tea with 25 sugars in it, as sugar
gives you energy...and loads of tea will
keep you
running

(small cup) (big cup)
up and down the stairs
to the toilet...thus exercising your legs.

★ next...eat a chocolate
biscuit and put your big dressing gown on.
repeat this 100 times
as biscuits build up your teeth muscles and your dressing gown strengthens arms (i think).

★ go downstairs and eat
all (and i mean all) the food in your house.

★ a good clip round the
ear off your mum for eating all the food will get your blood circulating ready to go and get more shopping...which is also very good exercise, too.

★ spend all the money your
mum gave you for the shopping on sweets and fish
and chips and fizzy pop,
then, the worry about going home will help keep your weight down. (i'm sure)

★ being chased by your mum with a big frying pan is ideal for keeping in trim.

★ being sent to bed with
no supper will stop you getting too fat...but
be sure to keep loads
of crisps and pop under your bed as you can
die if you stop eating.
- thank
you -

brilliant huh?
me helping little frank to
do his dressing gown exercise.

SCOUTING for BOYS

THE PADEN-BOWELL GUIDE TO HEALTHY LIVING

1. An early start is essential. Lying abed after 5 a.m. can bring on mental diseases, warts and an attack of sloth.

2. Healthy children awake with a song in their hearts. A roving chorus of Rule Britannia in you the ensures that you start the day with the correct mental attitude.

3. Cleanliness is next to boyishness. - so use plenty of carbolic soap, shampoo, and a vigorous abrasive rub - then, when you've finished cleaning your teeth you can go on to the rest of your body.

4. A 5 mile run before breakfast will invigorate you. If you have a pet, take him along - a boy's best friend loves exercise!

5. After a hearty breakfast, exercise is recommended to clear the digestive tract. A good daily programme is 50 push-ups, 200 pull-ups, 60 sit-ups, and 1 throw-up.

6. Finally, a healthy mind is as important as a healthy body. Should you find yourself thinking wicked thoughts...

"Hugle" than the P.G. teacher was only class to the "swimming bath..."

See why shouting at Helen Jones for making rude noises in the water...

I wasn't wearing my glasses, so I accidentally dived once. Toby Watson, who was going his impression of a little whale...

Toby would get over the warts who hop about with him and slipped.

He told me the water. See must have swum a lot of it, cos he began to sink...

I bet Maggie was glad I'd bought the crocodile... cos we used it the previous year!

And I also bet he's glad that Helen's gut at pumping!
